CEREMONIES

Gone are the days when a Civil Ceremony meant a quick and simple process in front of an office desk...

Civil Marriage

These days, you can have almost any kind of wedding, from a simple “I do” in a Registration Service Ceremony Room with a couple of friends as witnesses, to a more grand affair at an approved venue, with bridesmaids, attendants, readings and music: the works! Nearly anything goes but be aware that civil ceremonies must not include any religious content.

There will be two Registrars at your wedding; one to conduct the ceremony and the other to register your marriage. All ceremonies are held in English. If either partner is unable to speak or understand English, an interpreter must be present. You can discuss this with the Registrar who takes your Notice of Marriage so that you can make appropriate arrangements. The only other requirement on the day is that you have two adult witnesses present who also must be able to speak and understand English.

There is a huge variety of places in which to have a civil wedding in Oxfordshire.

Booking a Civil Ceremony

Once you have settled on the date and venue for your ceremony and made a provisional booking, you will need to get in touch with the helpdesk on 0345 241 2489 to ask if Registrars will be available on the day and at the time you want.

It is essential that you do this before making any other arrangements.

Registration Office Ceremonies

There are several ceremony rooms across the county, in Abingdon, Banbury, Bicester, Didcot, Henley-on-Thames, Oxford, Wheatley (part time) and Witney. They all vary in style, size and appearance, from the more traditional rooms, such as Oxford's wood-panelled Dexter Room and Banbury's Bodicote House to the purpose-built modern Broadway Room in Didcot. You can see a list of these, with photos, on pages 34 and 35. Please note, apart from Oxford, not all offices are open every weekend.

The Register Office for Oxfordshire is situated in the heart of Oxford city centre and its helpdesk is pleased to answer questions on arranging a ceremony in any of the rooms in the county.

Call 0345 241 2489 for further information on the rooms, their capacity for guests and to discuss any special requirements you or your guests may have, such as provision for people with disabilities.

Civil Partnership

A civil partnership schedule is signed by both of the partners, two witnesses and a Registrar. A civil partnership is recognised as a legal contract between two partners and can be conducted at any register office or approved premises.

Civil Partnership Conversion

You can convert your existing civil partnership into a marriage at a register office or an approved venue. You can choose to have a purely administrative process or to have a ceremony following the legal registration of your marriage.

For the conversion you will require:

- Original civil partnership certificate
- Proof of identity, e.g. a passport
- Proof of address, e.g. utility bill or bank statement

Approved Venues

Instead of having your ceremony in a Registration Office, you could opt to hold it in one of the many diverse approved venues throughout Oxfordshire, from an old Cotswold hotel or a famous city centre museum to an Oxford College. The only difficulty will be making your decision!

Registrars are happy to attend ceremonies at approved venues on any day, including Sundays and Bank Holidays (excluding Christmas Day). Time restrictions on ceremonies have been lifted, so you can now have your ceremony at any time subject to staff availability. Provisional bookings can be taken in advance of your legal Notices of Marriage or Civil Partnership.

Notice of Marriage or Civil Partnership

After booking your wedding or civil partnership at a Registration Office or an approved venue, both of you will need to give your Notices of Marriage or Civil Partnership. Details of how to do this are on pages 4 to 6.

Marriages and Civil Partnerships in Churches

A religious ceremony may take place in any religious building which has been registered for worship and marriages and civil partnerships. Your first contact should be with the church minister where you would like to hold your ceremony and they will advise you further. Following their agreement to conduct your ceremony, you may need to contact the Register Office where you live (see page 4 - 'Giving Notice of Marriage or Civil Partnership').

The telephone number for the Oxfordshire Register Office is 0345 241 2489.

You may find the following links useful:
www.achurchnearyou.com

Marriage Abroad

Tying the knot abroad is becoming an increasingly popular option. If you are thinking of doing this, please contact the appropriate country's embassy in England for advice on the formalities and documentation required.

Insurance

If, for whatever reason, you need to change your plans, it could be extremely expensive, so we advise you consider wedding insurance.

GETTING STARTED

Giving Notice of Marriage or Civil Partnership

Holding a civil ceremony is not a complicated affair. The following four pages explain what you need to do before the day to ensure your preparations go as smoothly as possible.

You will need to give notice of your marriage or civil partnership in your local registration district. If you and your partner live in different areas, you will both need to give notice in your own district. If you are subject to immigration control please see page 5 - 'Foreign Nationals'.

In order to give notice of marriage or civil partnership in a Registration Office, you and your partner must have lived in that district for a minimum of seven days (immediately before you give your notice). If you are coming from abroad the day of arrival does not count and notice cannot be given until the ninth day; for example, if arrival day is Tuesday, notice cannot be given until the following Wednesday.

If you live in Oxfordshire, you will need to make an appointment to give notice by calling the Registration Service helpline on 0345 241 2489. If you live outside the county, please contact your local Register Office for advice.

The earliest date the notice of marriage or civil partnership can be given is 12 months before the ceremony. Normally 28 clear days notice is required; for example, if you give notice on the 1st May, the ceremony can take place on or after the 30th May. In some circumstances this may be extended to 70 days (see page 5 - 'Foreign Nationals').

DOCUMENTATION

As with all legal events, you will need to provide evidence of your full name, nationality, age and proof of current address

Proof of identity

- Valid passport or
- Birth certificate and photo ID with evidence of current name or
- Naturalisation certificate and photo ID.

- Full birth certificate and photo ID with evidence of current name, together with evidence of your parents' nationality (passport or birth certificate).

EEA NATIONALS:

- Valid passport or
- National photo ID card.

FOREIGN NATIONALS:

You will need to provide proof of your full name, age, nationality and address. With the introduction of the Immigration Act 2014, some foreign nationals may be subject to immigration control. They may be referred to the Home Office if they do not hold either Indefinite Leave to Remain or a marriage or civil partnership visa, and the waiting period extended to 70 days.

Acceptable documents are:

- Valid passport or
- Valid Home Office travel document
- Indefinite Leave to Remain
- Marriage or civil partnership visa.

Proof of Current address

Please note: original documents are needed, photocopies are not acceptable.

If you've been in a marriage or civil partnership before

If you have been in a previous marriage or civil partnership, you will need to bring with you one of the following types of documentary evidence to show that the marriage or civil partnership has ended and that you are now free to give your notice:

- a decree absolute (following divorce)
- a dissolution certificate (from a previous civil partnership)
- a death certificate (if your husband/wife or former civil partner has died).

All divorce and dissolution documents must have the original stamp of the issuing court. Some overseas documents may have to be referred to the General Register Office for clearance (with a certified translation, if appropriate) and may take longer than the minimum 28 clear days notice period. A fee will apply to clear any foreign divorce.

If you're under 18 or have changed your name

If one or both of you are under the age of 18 years, or have changed your names, you will need to provide us with one or both of the following documents:

- evidence of change of name (by Deed Poll/ Statutory Declaration)
- parental consent, if under 18 years of age and not previously married or in a civil partnership.

Again, original documents are needed, photocopies are not acceptable.

Interpreters

All ceremonies and registrations are conducted in English so if either one of you cannot speak or understand English you must provide an interpreter. Please discuss this with the Registrar who takes your notice of marriage or civil partnership, to be sure the legal requirements are met.

Witnesses

You will need two people to be your witnesses; friends or relatives are fine but they must be over the age of 16 and able to understand the English language.

Foreign nationals

If you are subject to immigration control, you will be required to give notice of marriage or civil partnership to a Registrar at one of 75 designated register offices in England and Wales. You must attend the register office together (in Scotland and Northern Ireland, all register offices are designated, and notice of marriage or civil partnership is normally given by post).

If you do not have Indefinite Leave to Remain or a marriage or civil partnership visa you may be referred to the Home Office and your waiting period extended to 70 days. For detailed information, take a look at the UK Border Agency website: www.ukba.homeoffice.gov.uk

FAQ

What if I need to cancel my ceremony?

If you need to cancel for any reason, please contact us immediately on 0345 241 2489. A cancellation fee will apply.

Can we bring food and drink?

Please note that food, drink and chewing gum are not permitted.

I am very nervous, what if I forget the words I have to say?

Don't worry. You repeat the words after the Registrar and you do not need to learn them.

Can people take photographs of, or record, the ceremony?

Your guests are more than welcome to take photos at the ceremony but please discuss this with the Registrar first.

Video recordings are allowed but please let the Registrar know this before the ceremony so the person can be directed to the most appropriate position.

Can guests throw confetti?

Some venues have restrictions on confetti, so please discuss this with the Registrar conducting your ceremony and the staff at the venue.

Why can't there be any religious content?

Civil ceremonies were created for those who cannot, or did not wish to hold their ceremony in the Church. The law of this country states that civil ceremonies must not be religious in nature, nor should they include extracts from an authorised religious ceremony.

Is a ceremony conducted by an independent celebrant legal?

No. Please see page 33 for further information.

YOUR CEREMONY

We want you to have a memorable ceremony...
so, what happens and when?

Before the ceremony

To make sure everything goes ahead on time and without any hitches, please ensure you and your guests arrive at least 15 minutes before the time of your ceremony. Remember to make allowances for traffic delays, parking and any photographs and inform your guests of this.

Before the ceremony, the Registrar will see the couple privately to check that the details to be entered into the register are correct. You can be seen either individually or together, whichever you prefer. This is also an opportunity for you to ask any last minute questions. After these checks have been made we can proceed with the ceremony itself.

The ceremony

Saying “I do” in front of friends and family can be a nerve-racking event but the Registrars will be on hand to help you every step of the way. They will guide you through everything you need to do or say, so there is no need to worry about forgetting your lines or doing things in the wrong order!

Once you, your guests and your witnesses are seated, the ceremony will begin with a welcome by the Registrar. The couple will be asked, in turn, to repeat a number of solemn declarations, which will be the choices you made for your legal declarations and contracting words (your vows) and your promises. See pages 12 and 13 for the options you can choose from.

After you have made your contract, you and your witnesses will sign the register. After this, the Registrars will sign the register and will present you with your certificate.

Choosing vows and promises:
Traditional, Modern or Simplified?

CEREMONY

VOWS

While a civil wedding ceremony has a fairly standard format, there is plenty of scope within it to make it a personal statement of your love and commitment to each other. The minimum vows for a legal civil wedding are included below, under legal declarations and contracting words.

You can choose which version suits you best from each one: a, b or c and you repeat these words after the Registrar so you do not need to remember them.

LEGAL DECLARATIONS

(a) Traditional

I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I (your full name) may not be joined in matrimony to (your partner's full name).

(b) Modern

I declare that I know of no legal reason why I (your full name) may not be joined in marriage to (your partner's full name).

(c) Simplified

The Registrar asks: "Are you (your full name) free, lawfully, to marry (your partner's full name)?" You reply: "I am".

CONTRACTING WORDS

(a) Traditional

I call upon these persons, here present, to witness that I (your full name) do take thee (your partner's full name) to be my lawful wedded wife/husband.

(b) Modern

I (your full name), take you (your partner's full name) to be my wedded wife/husband.

(c) Simplified

I (your full name) take thee (your partner's full name) to be my wedded wife/husband.

RING PROMISES

- 1 I promise that I will respect you as an individual, support you through difficult times, rejoice with you through happy times, be loyal to you always and, above all, love you as my wife/husband and friend.
- 2 I promise to care for you above all others, to give you my love and friendship, support and comfort, and to respect and cherish you throughout our lives together.
- 3 I give you this ring as a token of my love and friendship.
- 4 I give you this ring as a token of our love and marriage, as a symbol of all that we share and in recognition of our life together.
- 5 I promise to love and respect you. Helping our love grow, always being there to listen, comfort and support you, whatever our future may bring.
- 6 I give you this ring as a sign of our marriage and as a symbol of our love. I promise to care for you, to respect and cherish you, throughout our lives together.
- 7 I give you this ring as a sign of our love, trust and marriage. I promise to care for you above all others, to give you my love, friendship and support, and to respect and cherish you throughout our life together.
- 8 I give you this ring as a symbol of my love and affection, wear it with happiness and pride – now and always.

PROMISES

After the 'legal' part of the ceremony has taken place, you can become more personal and creative, if you so wish, by saying promises to each other.
The following are suggestions that some people have used in the past.

PERSONAL PROMISES

Alternatively, if none of these take your fancy, you may be able to write your own promises; it is best to discuss this with your Registrar first to gauge their views on this. If you get the go-ahead, you can start putting pen to paper to come up with vows that really do come from the heart – and yours, not someone else's.

The following promises may give you some inspiration:

-  To get through whatever life throws at you, both good and bad
-  To love, cherish and respect one another
-  To stay together for life
-  To share happiness and laughter
-  To be kind, trusting, tolerant and understanding
-  To be good friends forever.

This way you can decide which aspects and elements of your relationship you wish to share with your family and friends.

Remember not to include any religious content.

CEREMONY

There are several choices available to you when registering your partnership

You can keep things simple by registering your civil partnership, which will consist of the declaration below and the signing of the schedule or you can opt to have a ceremony as well. The choice is yours.

LEGAL DECLARATION

which must be read, repeated or acknowledged by each partner:

- I declare that I know of no legal reason why we many not register as each other's civil partner. I understand that on signing this document we will be forming a civil partnership with each other.

PROMISES

- I will seek to build a strong, loving relationship based on kindness, understanding and trust that are already part of us both.
- I promise to share my life with you as an equal partner, and to ensure that our love and friendship continue to grow.
- I promise to love you in good times and bad, to cherish and care for you, to live with you in love and harmony, whatever the future may bring
- I promise to love you above all others, to cherish and respect you throughout our lives together.

POETRY

& READINGS

Personalising your ceremony is easy with well chosen poetry and readings

You can make your ceremony an even more personal occasion by including a reading, which can either be read by you or a friend or family member. Readings are a fantastic way of summing up what you feel about each other.

There is a vast choice of suitable passages or poems from which to select; your only restriction is that it must not contain any religious references, nor, of course, be offensive to anyone attending.

If you are finding it difficult choosing a reading, sit down together and think about any poems, authors or pieces of writing that you have enjoyed or that have moved you most.

A wide selection of readings can also be found on the Internet under 'Civil Weddings Readings and Poems'. The Sonnet by William Shakespeare is a traditional love poem that is always popular at weddings. The lyrical language suits the high emotions you are bound to feel on the day.

However, if you would prefer something more modern, or your readers are too daunted at the prospect of attempting a sonnet, modern poetry offers many options too! Pam Ayres' comedic verse warmly and amusingly conveys the reality of married life in a way that is bound to bring a smile of recognition to everyone who hears it.

Sonnet 116

William Shakespeare

*Let me not to the marriage of true minds
Admit impediments. Love is not love
Which alters when it alteration finds
Or bends with the remover to remove;
O, no! it is an ever-fixed mark,
That looks on tempests and is never shaken:
It is the star to every wand'ring bark,
Whose worth's unknown, although his height be taken.
Love's not Time's fool, though rosy lips and cheeks
Within his bending sickle's compass come;
Love alters not with his brief hours and weeks
But bears it out even to the edge of doom;
If this be error and upon me prov'd,
I never writ, nor no man ever lov'd.*

Love is a Temporary Madness

Louis de Bernieres

*Love is a temporary madness, it erupts like volcanoes and then subsides. And when it subsides you have to make a decision. You have to work out whether your root was so entwined together that it is inconceivable that you should ever part. Because this is what love is.
Love is not breathlessness, it is not excitement, it is not the promulgation of promises of eternal passion. that is just being in love, which any fool can do. Love itself is what is left over when being in love has burned away, and this is both an art and a fortunate accident. Those that truly love have roots that grow towards each other underground, and when all the pretty blossoms have fallen from their branches, they find that they are one tree and not two.*

He's not perfect

Bob Marley

*"He's not perfect. You aren't either, and the two of you will never be perfect. But if he can make you laugh at least once, causes you to think twice, and if he admits to being human and making mistakes, hold onto him and give him the most you can. He isn't going to quote poetry, he's not thinking about you every moment, but he will give you a part of him that he knows you could break. Don't hurt him, don't change him, and don't expect for more than he can give. Don't analyze.
Smile when he makes you happy, yell when he makes you mad, and miss him when he's not there. Love hard when there is love to be had. Because perfect guys don't exist, but there's always one guy that is perfect for you."*

Yes, I'll Marry You, My Dear

Pam Ayres

*Yes, I'll marry you, my dear,
And here's the reason why;
So I can push you out of bed
When the baby starts to cry,
And if we hear a knocking
And it's creepy and it's late,
I hand you the torch you see,
And you investigate.
Yes, I'll marry you, my dear,
You may not apprehend it,
But when the tumble-drier goes
It's you that has to mend it,
You have to face the neighbour
Should our Labrador attack him,
And if a drunkard fondles me
It's you that has to whack him.
Yes, I'll marry you,
You're virile and you're lean,
My house is like a pigsty
You can help to keep it clean.
That sexy little dinner
Which you served by candlelight,
As I do chipolatas,
You can cook it every night!
It's you who has to work the drill
and put up curtain track,
And when I've got PMT it's you who gets the flak,
I do see great advantages,
But none of them for you,
And so before you see the light,
I do, I do, I do!*

The Magic of Love

Helen Steiner Rice

*Love is like magic, and it always will be,
For love still remains life's sweet mystery.
Love works in ways that are wondrous and strange,
And there's nothing in life that love cannot change!
Love can transform the most commonplace
Into beauty and splendour and sweetness and grace.
Love is unselfish, understanding and kind,
For it sees with its heart, and not with its mind.
Love is the answer that everyone seeks;
Love is the language that every heart speaks.
Love can't be bought, it is priceless and free.
Love, like pure magic, is life's sweet mystery!*

From a Native American Indian Ceremony

Anonymous

*May the sun bring you new energy by day;
May the moon softly restore you by night.
May the rain wash away your worries
And the breeze blow new strength into your being,
And all the days of your life may you walk
Gently through the world and know its beauty.
Now you will feel no rain, for each of you will be shelter for the other.
Now you will feel no cold, for each of you will be warmth to the other.
Now there will be no more loneliness,
Now you are two persons, but there is one life before you.
Go now to your dwelling to enter into the days of your life together,
And may your days be good and long upon the earth.*

The Amber Spyglass

Phillip Pullman

*"I will love you forever; whatever happens. Till I die and after I die, and when I find my way out of the land of the dead, I'll drift about forever, all my atoms, till I find you again... I'll be looking for you, every moment, every single moment. And when we do find each other again, we'll cling together so tight that nothing and no one'll ever tear us apart. Every atom of me and every atom of you... We'll live in birds and flowers and dragonflies and pine trees and in clouds and in those little specks of light you see floating in sunbeams...
And when they use our atoms to make new lives, they won't just be able to take one, they'll have to take two,
one of you and one of me."*

Take time

Anonymous

*Take time to be gentle to each other
Remember, words harshly spoken trouble the spirit, heart and mind.
Take time to talk to each other
The secret to understanding is in open communication.
Don't be afraid to speak your mind, but listen in return and listen careful, wisely and not selfishly.
Take time to remember why you chose one another, and don't try and change one another, but learn to grow and value one another.
Take time to show respect, and be a friend to each other Admiration can be seen by others, by that look, by that smile, by that touch.
Be a good teacher, be a good student
You each have so much to share and offer one another.
Take time to be alone, so that you can gather your innermost thoughts, and then share them with each other when you're together again.
Take time to disagree with one another. It clears the air, and the lungs, and agree never to carry a row over to tomorrow.
Remember, there are others in this world, don't live only for each other.
You are also part of family and have friends, don't block their love.
Lastly, take time to be loving, it's what everyone needs
every hour, every day and for the rest of your lives.
Love each other, as we love you, today and always.
And go on your way, knowing there are others here today, who love you almost as much as you love one another.*

CEREMONY MUSIC

Music is another wonderful way to personalise your ceremony. Traditional musical pieces are often chosen above modern alternatives because many of them were written with the ceremony in mind. And just because you are having a civil ceremony, it does not mean you cannot have something traditional in your music choices! However, modern songs, from pop to folk to jazz, can offer a refreshing change and might express your feelings even more appropriately. The choice really is yours, but just remember that songs must not contain any religious content.

As a general rule of thumb, it is good to have five or six songs to play while your guests take their seats. As these are purely for background, they can also be repeated should any delays occur.

It is always a good idea to assign someone to operate the music system, so that the music can be faded out subtly as you reach the front of the room, and to ensure all the levels are correct.

Please note, re-readable CDs often don't play well on different CD players, so it is a good idea to provide or back up your music on yours or a friend's Smartphone or other i-device.

All our Registration Office music systems offer either an i-pod docking station or auxiliary cable.

TALK TO US

If you have chosen to hold your ceremony in an approved venue, such as a hotel or stately home, your fee includes the option to meet with the Registrar who will be conducting your ceremony. Staffing is usually confirmed four weeks prior to your big day. This meeting will usually take place at the local Register Office which looks after your chosen venue.

This is your day and we are here to make it exactly as you wish.

If you wish to arrange a meeting, we would recommend that you call the ceremony helpdesk a month before your big day on 0345 241 2489 (Monday to Thursday 9.00am - 4.30pm, Friday 9.00am - 4.00pm).

As Registrars have busy schedules, particularly during the summer season, please allow ample time when making your appointment.

PERFECT TIMING

To ensure perfect timing on the day, we would recommend that you, or one of your family or trusted friends, does a dry run on the journey time a week or so before the big day, at the same time and day of the week, to check for any possible issues.

Please remember that if the car is taking the Bridesmaids/Page Boys first and then returning, you will need to factor this into your timings, as the journey back from the venue may take longer than the journey there.

Where possible, we would suggest that the Groom/Partner is at the venue a minimum of half an hour before the ceremony, ready to meet the Registrars in the ceremony room. If the Bride/Partner then arrives around 15 minutes before the allocated starting time, this allows for a couple of photographs with the car and means that, if you plan not to see each other until the ceremony begins, this is easier to orchestrate.

For couples who may be getting ready at the venue, the Registrar completing the paperwork will want to see you and check your details at least 15 minutes prior to the ceremony, and so we would ask you to ensure that you are fully dressed, with your hair and/or make-up completed, in order to be able to concentrate fully on these important legal checks. A fee will apply to correct the details on a certificate after the ceremony so please take the time to check it carefully.

In this increasingly busy world, traffic jams or tight schedules by car hire companies can all create time delays on your big day.

OUTDOOR CEREMONIES

Outdoor ceremonies are increasingly popular, even though the great British weather isn't always very reliable!

Many venues in Oxfordshire which are licensed for marriage and civil partnerships offer the option of holding the ceremony in a 'garden structure', a fixed structure with a permanent roof and floor, which is large enough to accommodate the couple, their witnesses and the registrars.

More and more couples choose to hold their ceremony outside and registration staff are happy to try and accommodate this where possible. In fact, we all enjoy conducting ceremonies 'outside'! Holding your ceremony in the garden or grounds of a licensed venue sets the scene for a relaxed celebration of your special day, and can provide a very memorable backdrop for you and your guests.

However, it will not always be possible to hold your ceremony outside due to inclement weather which can include rain (or the likelihood of showers), wind, very cold conditions, or high temperatures with no shade for guests. It is a legal requirement that marriage and civil partnership legal paperwork should be kept safe and dry, and in pristine condition. These are the official records of the ceremony. For this reason the registrars will have the ultimate decision on whether your ceremony can be held outside.

Please do not let it spoil your day if the ceremony cannot take place outdoors for any reason. Make sure that you have a back-up plan and select another room at your chosen venue – please remember that it must be big enough to accommodate all your guests.

Venues which currently offer outdoor ceremonies are shown on pages 37 and 38, displaying the [🌿outdoors] symbol.

Please contact us on 0345 241 2489 if you would like to discuss holding your ceremony outside.

FESTIVAL

CEREMONIES

When guests have travelled a long way to celebrate with you, and when you have friends and family aged from 3 to 93 to entertain, many couples choose to hold a festival-style celebration, lasting late into the night or even spanning a whole weekend.

Your legal ceremony can take place in one of our local registration offices and be followed by a ceremony to celebrate your marriage or civil partnership conducted by one of our experienced celebrants in the beautiful Oxfordshire countryside – maybe in a farmer’s field, or in the woods, or by a river.

Guests can be seated on hay bales or vintage deckchairs while you exchange your vows and promises in the open air, and your gathering can be personalised with handmade bunting or wild-flower and foliage garlands. Marquees or festival tents can provide the perfect place to relax during the festivities, as well as shelter from the sun and rain.

Food and drink are a vital component of any successful celebration, and there are plenty of options to choose from. A traditional hog roast is always popular, but why not consider street-style food, catering for all tastes from vegetarian or vegan to the exotic flavours of Lebanese, Indian or Thai cuisines? Or you could even hire in a fish and chip van or an ice cream van for a traditional seaside atmosphere.

Tea and cake always goes down well, especially if the cake is homemade and the tea is served from vintage china. Not forgetting drinks – craft beer on tap from one of Oxfordshire’s micro-breweries is one possibility, but you could also source some of the county’s excellent locally produced wine or fruit juices.

Children love an outdoor celebration of any kind, but could be easily kept entertained with some old-fashioned games, like rounders, quoits or croquet, or giant Jenga or Connect 4. Children and adults alike will enjoy the relaxed vibe that having live music can bring to your day, and what could be better than having your first dance to your favourite music played by your favourite local band?

Some couples choose to end the day under the stars around a camp fire, with the chill kept at bay with cosy blankets, marshmallows and roasting forks in hand. Others provide bell tents, yurts or tipis for their guests to stay the night, enjoying the tranquillity of the countryside, ready for the party to start again at breakfast time!

YOUR DREAM VENUE

Top tips for choosing your venue

- Each venue will have its own atmosphere, charm and 'feel' so make sure you visit several before making up your mind
- Will you have unlimited access to the venue's facilities during your day?
- If any of your guests has mobility problems will the venue still be suitable?
- Are there any facilities for children?
- Is there sufficient parking?
- What sort of accommodation can they offer (if appropriate) and do they offer guests a discount?
- Is the venue easy to find? Are there suitable or adequate signposts?

COMBINE YOUR LEGAL CEREMONY IN ANY ONE OF OUR DISTRICT OFFICE CEREMONY ROOMS FOLLOWED BY A CELEBRATORY CEREMONY IN A VENUE OF YOUR CHOICE.

What is a Legal & Celebratory ceremony?

A Legal & Celebratory ceremony is a legal and bespoke ceremonial marriage or civil partnership package in two parts.

The legal marriage or civil partnership takes place in a local authority ceremony room followed by a celebratory ceremony, usually held in a location which would not be eligible to be licensed for marriages or civil partnerships.

YOUR DAY

YOUR WAY

Why do couples choose them and how popular are they?

Couples choose a Legal & Celebratory ceremony because they wish to celebrate their marriage or civil partnership in a venue that is not licensed for ceremonies such as a marquee in their parents' garden, or another spot which is special to the couple.

These Legal & Celebratory ceremonies are increasing in popularity as it gives couples the best of both options:- a legal marriage or civil partnership with the freedom to have a celebration of that marriage or civil partnership where they choose.

How do I arrange one?

You need to contact our help desk on 0345 241 2489 to discuss your options.

Are there legal requirements I need to fulfil?

There are no legal requirements for the celebratory ceremony itself. However, once you have decided where you wish to hold your legal ceremony you would need to give your Notice of Marriage or Civil Partnership.

A ceremony in one of our district ceremony rooms is a popular choice and we include this in our Legal & Celebratory ceremony 'package' which is detailed below.

What is the cost?

We have recently launched a package which includes both the Legal & Celebratory ceremony. Please see our Fees page:
<https://www.oxfordshire.gov.uk/cms/content/fees-registration-services>

Package includes:

- A legal ceremony in one of our local authority ceremony rooms (Mon to Fri & Sat am)
- A bespoke celebratory ceremony in a location which would not usually be eligible for licensing for marriages or civil partnerships
- Inspection and assessment of proposed location by registration employee (if applicable)
- Planning meeting with your celebrant.

Not included:

Statutory fees payable for the legal preliminaries for Notice of Marriage or Civil Partnership.

VENUES

The venues listed here all hold a current civil marriage/ civil partnership licence, and this list is correct at the time of print. As licences need to be renewed every three years, it is advisable to check with the venue of your choice to ensure they will still have a licence on the day of your wedding. It is also advisable to check the venue's facilities for the disabled, including people with a hearing or sight disability.

Approved Venues displaying this symbol  all have outdoor structures which are licensed to conduct civil ceremonies. For information on outdoor Ceremonies please see page 20.

THE PERFECT VENUE

Oxfordshire has so many wonderful venues that the biggest problem you will face is choosing the right one!

We hope the following tips can make your task less daunting.

First and foremost, your choice will be influenced by where you hold your ceremony.

If it is in a Registration Office (see pages 34-35) then you will need a venue in which to celebrate afterwards.

However, if you would prefer to hold your ceremony in one of the county's approved venues (pages 37-38), you can have your ceremony and celebration in the same place, thereby removing any worry and cost associated with travel from one venue to another. Below is a list of all the different types of venues in which you can either do the whole thing or celebrate in, after your Registration Office ceremony.

City hotels and museums

If you want a more modern, urban celebration, a hotel or museum in Oxford can be a wonderful choice. An added bonus is that guests will have a wider choice of easily accessible accommodation, either at your venue (if appropriate) or at a hotel or B&B that suits their budget. They can also enjoy good transport links to and from the venue or even walk if they fancy some exercise!

Oxford colleges

Oxford's biggest claim to fame is its ancient university, so why not have your big day in one of its colleges? The architecture and gardens will provide a dramatic backdrop to your photographs and the unusual atmosphere within their walls is perfect for that special day. Your guests will appreciate some of the city's tradition at first hand and you will have wonderfully central, but interestingly peaceful, surroundings in which to celebrate.

Country hotels

From old Cotswold-stone buildings to riverside hotels, there is a wide choice of venues in the county. Country hotels provide a romantic setting and many have fantastic gardens for those important photographs. Depending on the size of both your party and the venue itself, you may have full rein on the day, away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life.

Stately homes

Imagine having access to a fantastic stately home for longer than a guided tour; this could be your chance to do so. Prices might be higher than at other venues but, if you fancy being Lord/Lady of the Manor for a few hours (or more), what better day to choose than this, potentially the most important day of your life?

Celebratory Ceremonies

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR COUPLES TO RENEW THEIR COMMITMENT TO EACH OTHER

A celebratory ceremony is a non-religious ceremony. Not only used on a special anniversary, such as 10th, 25th or 40th, but more often held after a ceremony abroad, or an original low-key event, thus enabling family and friends who were unable to attend, to enjoy the celebrations and become involved.

Any couple of any age or gender can arrange a celebratory ceremony. Couples do not have to live in Oxfordshire.

You will have the chance to work closely with a professional Celebrant to select from the options available, and tailor a ceremony that is special for you and your family. Every ceremony is different, so you can create something unique for you to remember and treasure.

Each ceremony is divided into sections and can reflect events in your life together, which gives you the chance to create something personal and special.

The ceremony can be as simple or as complex as you wish:

Introduction and welcome

Readings or music can be included at various points

Mention of children of the marriage

Vows/pledges

Exchange of new or additional rings, or re-dedication of original rings

Speech by original guest

Presentation of certificate

Closing words.

We offer celebratory ceremonies in all Registration Offices and approved premises within the county. They may be celebrated on any day of the week except Christmas Day. Ceremonies on Good Friday, Easter Sunday, Boxing Day or New Year's Day will be subject to staffing availability.

If you would like to use a different venue, for example a village hall, or a marquee in the grounds of a hotel or the garden at your home, this would need to be discussed beforehand and visited by a member of the Registration Service to ensure it is a suitable venue for the ceremony.

What's in a name?

NAMING CEREMONIES

This is a special occasion to gather close family and friends together to witness your commitment to your child, whether it is to celebrate your newborn baby's birth or to welcome adoptive and stepchildren into your family. You can make promises of commitment to support and nurture the child and other adults can be appointed as mentors until your child reaches adulthood.

Please note: both celebratory ceremonies and naming ceremonies are non-statutory and therefore the ceremony itself and the issue of any certificates carry no legal status.

Any parent, legal guardian or person who has parental responsibility of the child/children may arrange a ceremony. Parents do not have to be married to do so.

Although traditional christenings or baptisms are still common there is an increasing need for a non religious ceremony.

Tie the knot and cut the cost

With the average ceremony costing at least £30,000, it's nearly enough to make you say "I don't". However, you don't need to spend a fortune to have a fantastic day...

Work out your budget...

...and stick to it. Sit down together and decide what you can realistically afford for your wedding and which aspects of the process are the most important to you. For example, you may not care how you get from the ceremony to the reception venue but you would like to spend a bit extra on flowers.

Be ruthless with your guest list

This is the first place you need to consider to prevent costs from spiralling. Sometimes it is tempting to invite every distant relation or friend of a friend but with each invitation, your costs are rocketing. If money is tight, make a list of your closest family and friends, the ones you really do not want to miss the day.

Invitations

It is nice to do something terribly original with wedding invitations but, while this is nice, it can cost up to £90 for a set. If you want to make your invites personal, pop into a stationers and pick up some decent card, gold and silver pens or a calligraphy pen and set to work writing them yourself. Stationers also often sell glitter and other decorative items that you could glue to your invitation.

Flowers

Simple arrangements can be just as effective as larger ones, so do not feel you need to go overboard. A small posy for the bride is often enough, with one main arrangement in the ceremony room.

If you want flowers on the tables at your reception, you could do what Alison did at her wedding: "We bought gerberas from a local garden centre and put them in pretty plant pots on the tables as a centrepiece, then told the guests they were welcome to take them home afterwards as a way to remember the day."

Photography

Photography can take up a considerable chunk of your budget. If you cannot afford the prices of a professional photographer, why not ask someone you know who is good with a camera? Jenny did this at her wedding. "One of my friends was a keen amateur photographer and I always admired his pictures at get-togethers. We asked him to take our pictures and paid for the camera film for him. It was wonderful having someone we knew taking our pictures on the day as we felt more relaxed. The pictures were fantastic; more informal than a photographer would take but since we wanted a more relaxed wedding, we were more than happy with the results."

For the reception itself, you could buy disposable cameras and put them on the table, asking guests to take pictures and leave the cameras afterwards.

Outfits

Everyone wants to look beautiful on their special day but you don't need to bankrupt yourself in the process.

If your budget is very tight, you can easily hire a dress/outfit from a local shop (look in the Yellow Pages for information on this). There will be a wide variety of choices, from the more traditional styles to those with a modern or funky twist, with a pleasant price tag attached! If you are only going to wear it one day in your life, why spend a fortune on it?

Alternatively, hit the high street in search of a bargain. Shops like Monsoon and Debenhams have beautiful gowns/suits to buy from as little as £100, with matching accessories to boot. If you opt for a 'ballgown' design, you can always wear it on other smart occasions, thereby getting even more use out of it.

Finally, for those of you with a conscience, check out Oxfam's wedding departments. Some of the bigger charity shops have a dedicated section where you might find the dress/outfit of your dreams at a fraction of the first price. Not only will you look amazing on your ceremony day but you can feel good that your choice has benefited someone in need.

Food

The cheapest catering option is to provide your own food (if you are hiring a hall: restaurants, hotels and pubs might insist that you use their catering facilities if you hire a room with them). A finger buffet can be the cheapest and easiest option. If you can stretch your budget more, you can order sandwich platters from supermarkets or from local delicatessens.

Some supermarkets do wedding cakes at vastly lower costs than those charged by a cake maker. Alternatively, see if you have a relative who is good at baking to come up with something!

Drink

Buying in bulk is the most cost-effective option. Wine merchants and supermarkets often offer good discounts on bulk buys, while some places also offer a glass-hire service, the cost of which is sometimes refunded if you return the glasses clean and undamaged at the end. Cava is a great alternative to champagne, at a fraction of the price.

Ceremony

If you want a small celebration (yourselves plus two witnesses) and a short ceremony, you are able to marry or hold your civil partnership in a register office for the statutory fee. This is only available on certain days and times of the week.

Reception

There are various ways of holding a good reception. You could hire out a room (or several) in a hotel, and ask them to cater the event for you. Church and village halls can be hired fairly cheaply, though you will need to check in advance if a special licence will be needed for serving alcohol. Additionally, local pubs and restaurants often hire out rooms for celebrations, so look around and see what suits you best.

Transport

If you want to ride in something unusual on your big day but your budget is too tight, why not ask family and friends to see if they can provide a car (or at least drive you in theirs)? It is highly likely that someone has a smart sports car or vintage vehicle that you can borrow. If not, have some fun decorating your own car, as Pete did. "We didn't want to spend a fortune on a horse-drawn carriage or limo so we bought some ribbon and balloons and decorated the car with those. Our friends 'helped' us a little when we drove away from the ceremony to the reception by adding pots and pans and shaving foam that said, 'Just married' on the back windscreen. I don't think a hire car would have allowed that! It was nice having our car as part of our special day; it made it more personal."

A NICE DAY FOR A...

Green Wedding

(or civil partnership)

Billy Idol may have had a top ten hit in the 80's with "White Wedding" but we can show you how to have a Number One green event today!

While white weddings have been the rage for a while, international charity Oxfam estimates that 15 per cent of couples feel that having an ethical approach to their ceremony is important.

Current concerns about the state of the environment mean that many couples want to make their special day as eco-friendly as possible, and this can be done more easily than you think!

Recycled rings

There is often controversy over rings: has the gold or silver used to make them been ethically sourced? At what cost to the planet's resources? To minimise any negative impact, look for rings in antique shops or at student art shows or choose ones made from other materials such as wood. Alternatively, look for recycled gold or fair trade silver on the internet, or for conflict-free diamonds, check out the Kimberley Process website.

Something borrowed

Everyone wants to look their best on their special day but you don't necessarily need a new outfit to do this. Why not check out some of the charity shops that specialise in bridal gowns?

Oxfam has nine dedicated bridal shops throughout the UK, and the charity's wedding co-ordinator Barbara Warmesley says that there is a growing trend for women to source their dresses second-hand. "I started selling wedding dresses for Oxfam in 1960; now we've got a business that is booming. It's great that so many brides are coming to Oxfam for their dresses."

Caring confetti

Confetti has become unpopular in recent years because of the mess it makes on pavements and outside of buildings. If guests are keen on throwing something, why not use dried rose petals? They look pretty, smell divine and are biodegradable!

Trusty transport

If you want to cut down on transport, choose a venue that's close to home. Why not arrive at the ceremony in a horse-drawn carriage for a more traditional feel or, alternatively, why not use an electric car and make a real statement?

Walking and cycling are also possibilities... if you're brave enough to try them! If the ceremony and reception aren't at the same place, try to encourage guests to share cars or look into providing a coach.

Gifts that go on giving

Many couples nowadays either have been living together for years or have already set up home and don't need toasters, kettles and vases.

Why not use this opportunity to create a wish list on a charity website, where friends and families can donate gifts to charities instead?

Alternatively, you could choose a charity, or charities, and simply ask guests to make a small donation; wildlife and conservation charities seem the obvious choice here.

If guests still insist on giving you something, ask for plants, trees or wildlife products for the garden, where you can make a small, but important, impact on your local environment.

Top nosh

Many of Oxfordshire's hotels and restaurants place a big emphasis on sourcing locally produced and seasonal ingredients, so do enquire when you're looking at reception venues. A large number of local caterers also incorporate this ethos into all their catering by using ingredients from suppliers that are local, organic and fair trade, and can cater for dietary requirements such as vegetarian and vegan.

If you are hosting your own event, buy organic wine, spirits, beer and soft drinks from such providers as Vinceremos, Vintage Roots or Festival Wines. Try, wherever possible, to support local, seasonal and organic food production by buying from local farmers or from shops that do so.

Although washing-up can be a pain, do try to avoid using disposable cutlery, plates and glasses and ensure that empty bottles and containers are placed in recycling bins.

Honeymoon at home

A honeymoon is often the one chance couples think they'll have to travel somewhere exotic; however, jetting off to Thailand clocks up air miles and CO2 emissions. Think about all the romantic destinations you can visit here in the UK by train, without spending 12 hours on a plane. Equally there are stunning places right on your doorstep in Oxfordshire just waiting to be explored: call in at a local tourist information office for ideas. After all, you're starting a new life together: what better opportunity to find out more about where you live while you get to know one another?

Changes to your passport

There are so many things to organise when you are planning your ceremony and celebrations that notifying the passport authorities if you are planning to change your name after your ceremony may be overlooked. Any person who is planning to marry or form a civil partnership and then travel abroad immediately after the ceremony can apply for a post-dated passport to be issued to them in advance, showing the name they intend to use after the ceremony. You can apply up to three months before the date of your ceremony.

Alternatively, you can travel on a current passport in the name you are known by before your ceremony. In these circumstances, it would be advisable to carry your marriage or civil partnership certificate with you, and to consult a representative of the country to which you wish to travel, to ensure that the documentation will be considered valid by that country.

If you would like to apply for a passport in a future name, you will need to submit a completed Form PD2 (available online) to the passport authorities, along with supporting documents and photographs. Once your Notice of Marriage or Civil Partnership has been given, the form can be completed. One section will be completed by you, and one section by the Registrar or Minister of Religion who will be conducting your ceremony. If you are planning to travel abroad, remember to book your tickets in the name which will be shown in your passport at the time of travel.
